1. Claims 5, 13, 14, 19, 21, and 23 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on November 1, 2004.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-4, 6, 8, 20, 22, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tang (USPN 5,791,671).

Tang shows a bicycle head tube with a cap 142 or 192 having upper and lower surfaces, an annular side surface and a housing portion 148 or 204, that extends into the steering tube and is dimensioned to form a receiving space that could be used to house an electrical part (although, it is disclosed as housing a cable 60 or 220 inside of a tube 181 or 222. The cap is held in place by a nut and bolt fastener 154, 150 or 202, within the steering tube 24.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 9, 10, 12, 15-18, 25, and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tang in view of Shimano (USPN 4,435,983).

Tang lacks an electrical component in the cap.

Shimano teaches providing an electrical component on the handlebar end and directing electrical wiring through the stem. It also teaches positioning a battery for the electrical component in the top end of the stem.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the electrical wiring rather than cable wiring through the cap of Tang, as taught by Shimano, in order to accommodate electrical bicycle components. It would also have been obvious to mount the battery in the housing, in view of the Shimano teaching, in order to secure a component battery at the top end of the steering stem.

6. Claims 7 and 11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4, 6, 8-10, 12, 15-18, 20, 22, and 24-26 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Cristie shows wiring directed through the cover for a steering stem.
